

ANIMAL METABOLISM LAB

OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY, CORVALLIS, OR

Pillar Consulting Group is the civil engineer-of-record for the Oregon State University Hogg Animal Metabolism Lab, located on their campus in Corvallis, Oregon. Site design elements included the widening and half street improvements of Campus Way, storm water quality facilities and grading design for the surrounding site and large animal pens and handling areas. This facility is an active teaching and research facility within the College of Agricultural Sciences, and contains a small cattle feedlot, research pens and cattle processing and scale areas.
